Anyan's comments:

Last week, a F-35 mockup with a hinomaru (the JDF airforce's sun-shaped emblem) livery was shown in the Hyakuri air base and attacked lots of attention.

It was just a mockup but it makes us realize that countries like Korea and Japan might get their hands on an F-35 soon.

Canada recently delayed their decision on purchasing F-35s until later, while Dassault offered them the Rafale and technology transfer at the beginning of the year.
